Cost of Living Declines Some, U. S. Reports

WASHINGTON (AP) — Living costs as measured by the government declined in November by one-tenth of one per cent.

Somewhat lower food prices, and modest declines in most other consumer buying categories brought the living cost index down to 128.3 per cent of the 1947-49 base period.

Announcing the figure today, Robert J. Myers, deputy commissioner of labor statistics, said a rise of seven-tenths of one per cent from November 1960, represented the smallest November-to-November living cost increase since 1955.

He predicted another small decline for December.

"We're pretty sure we'll have another little drop," he said. "The indications point in that direction. But we don't think we'll have any big decline."

In November, costs of both toys and sporting goods, items that are in heavy demand as Christmas gifts, were down by two-tenths of one per cent from the level of a year earlier.

Spendable earnings and buying power of the average factory worker rose to a new record level in November.

The factory worker's weekly earnings after federal income and Social Security taxes rose by about $1 from the October level to $85.03. The figure is for the worker with a family of four.

Over the year the average factory worker's spendable earnings have increased by more than $5 a week, or about 7 per cent.

Not Fair to Reserves, Is Charged

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Reserve Officers' Association has accused Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara of not dealing fairly with the nation's reservists and their families.

The accusation was in a broad attack the association directed Thursday at the Pentagon on reserve matters.

There has been "obvious downgrading of the reserve consideration at all levels," the association said. It also claimed the Pentagon reaches decisions on the reserves "by mysterious methods not shared with the American people or even with the Congress."

Later, the Defense Department commented in a statement that it is "fully convinced of the importance and the capabilities of the reserve system and the indispensable contribution it makes to the nation's defense."

The association's statement asserted that:

1. McNamara has permitted to go unchallenged many public misconceptions about the reserve program and that this threatens to undermine the morale of reserve units.
2. The Defense Department has failed to understand the broader aspects of the reserve program and abolished the offices in each service of the assistant secretary for reserve and personnel affairs.

$300 Million in Wage Increases

WASHINGTON (AP) — About 2.4 million workers will receive in 1962 at least $300 million in wage increases that already have been negotiated.

Surveys made public today by the Labor Department also show that contracts covering 1.8 million workers will expire and come up for negotiations during the coming year.

The pay increases are concentrated in industries making automobiles, farm equipment and related products, electrical goods, rubber products and in meat packing, local and long-distance trucking, the maritime industry and warehousing and trade.

$374,371 Embezzled From Bank

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A third man was arrested by FBI agents today in connection with a bank embezzlement already reckoned at $374,371, with an audit still going on.

The actual theft from the Baltimore Av. branch of the First Pennsylvania Banking & Trust Co. is charged to Joseph W. Barnes, 25, head teller at the branch.

The FBI said Barnes admitted taking the cash over the past 10 months, and spending most of it gambling on horse races and athletic events.

The FBI Thursday night arrested a taproom owner, who allegedly got about $150,000 from Barnes to cover gambling bets.

This morning, another tavern operator was seized. The FBI said Barnes apparently gave him "various sums of the bank's money to purchase stock for investment purposes."

John R. Daly, 36, operator of a bar several blocks from the branch bank, was charged with aiding and abetting Barnes in the embezzlement. A similar charge was lodged earlier against Robert McDavitt, 30, also a taproom operator.

Barnes is free in $7,500 bail. McDavitt, jailed when he couldn't post similar bond, is to get another hearing before U.S. Commissioner Edward E. Furia. Daly also will be brought before Furia.

Barnes, a First Pennsylvania employee since 1955, made $88 a week as head teller.

Barnes has a daughter and his wife of three years is pregnant.

Asked by newsmen when he made his first bet with bank money, Barnes said, "The FBI says I can't say a word. I can't talk about that."

U. S. to Move on the Reds Within Month

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department says it will take action next month against members of the U.S. Communist party.

The announcement came Thursday after Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy hurried back to his Washington office from West Palm Beach, Fla., where his father lies seriously ill, to map the government's next move against the Communist party, its officers and its members.

The attention now was focused on the party members, who number about 10,000 according to the FBI. A Dec. 20 deadline passed without any of them registering as agents of the Soviet Union as required by the Internal Security Act.

The act carries stiff penalties for noncompliance: up to $10,000 and five years in prison for each day of violation.

Just what action the Justice Department plans to undertake next month wasn't spelled out.

However, department spokesmen have explained that there is an elaborate procedure to be followed. Each party member must be accused formally before the Subversive Activities Control Board of belonging to the party. The board then must order each individual to register. This order is subject to court review.

Contract Signed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Paris, Ark., is expected to sign a financial aid contract with the Public Housing Administration for construction of 20 low-rent houses, officials said Thursday. Ten of the houses in the $256,184 project would be designed for elderly persons.

President's Father a Bit Better

By FRANCES LEWINE

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Richard Cardinal Cushing, a visited his old friend, ailing Joseph P. Kennedy, today and reported the President's father was very much improved, and had spoken to him.

The cardinal, who is from Kennedy's home city of Boston, said he had told Kennedy, a former ambassador to Great Britain: "My dear friend, Mr. Ambassador, keep up your courage. We're all praying for you. You're going to be all right."

And, to this, he said the 73-year-old Kennedy, who has been partly paralyzed from a blood clot on the brain, replied: "I know I am."

This was the first time since his Tuesday stroke that the elder Kennedy had been reported able to talk. Previous reports from his doctors had indicated that he was unable to speak but he could recognize members of his family.

The cardinal said that he had cautioned his old friend not to say anything more so that he would not use up his reserve strength.

The cardinal visited some 20 minutes in the hospital on his way home from Lima, Peru.

When reporters asked Cardinal Cushing about the fact that Kennedy had spoken to him, when all prior reports had been that the patient was unable to speak, he explained Kennedy "says a word or two, but they don't want him to keep speaking or tire himself out."

The cardinal's summing up of the situation was, "I think he's very much improved."

One of the ailing Kennedy's sons, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, had spent the night at St. Mary's Hospital after returning. Continued on Page Four

Students Hit Red Leader on His Head

NEW YORK (AP) — Communist leader Benjamin J. Davis was hit on the head with a sign as a group of boozing, hissing students pursued him following his address at City College Thursday. He was not injured.

Davis was followed by about 50 students when he left the college's Finley Student Center after challenging the Justice Department to prove that he still is national secretary of the Communist party of the United States.

The group quickly grew to more than 100 which surrounded Davis and three college guards. Students and guards exchanged punches in the brief melee that erupted.

Many of the students carried placards reading "Commies go home" and "Free speech—but why invite traitors?" Others sang "God Bless America," and one shouted "Sell your free speech to the widows in Hungary."

The demonstration was called "hoodlumism" by Davis, who added: "There would be a million of them, and they wouldn't intimidate me or my party."

The college said the demonstrators were members of the Ukrainian and Hebraic societies on the campus and that many of their parents had suffered under communism.

NEWPORT, Ark. (AP) — Poundmaster Johnnie Cockrill has a sentimental problem — here at the Christmas season.

Cockrill impounded a homeless red mongrel dog Thursday.

The pooch managed to clamber over a fence and jumped into Cockrill's truck with him.

Now he's Cockrill's constant companion. Cockrill, who is supposed to destroy homeless dogs, says "I just can't go through with it this time."

Snow, Sleet Blowing Out of Rockies

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A pre-Christmas mixture of violent weather whalloped the northern Rockies and moved into the north-central and Plains states today.

Roads were closed in three states.

A blizzard raged in northern Montana and swept into the Dakotas where "no travel" warnings were posted in some sections.

A sudden snowstorm, that ended as abruptly as it began, dumped an accumulation of wet snow on the metropolitan Kansas City area today paralyzing the city during the morning rush hour.

The Weather Bureau said reports of the depth varied from four to eight inches.

The unexpected snow struck about 7 a.m. By 11 a.m. it had stopped and the Weather Bureau forecast light flurries with no further accumulation. The flurries resumed soon after.

Freezing drizzle was reported in some North Dakota and Minnesota regions ahead of the eastbound blizzard. A low temperature of 15 below zero was predicted for tonight in the northern section.

Howling gusts of up to 97 miles per hour lashed some parts of the northern Rocky Mountain section. The strange variety of weather included lightning and rain.

Northern Montana was hardest hit, but winds triggered a series of snowslides that closed two major highways in western Wyoming.

In Colorado, winds up to 62 miles an hour smashed signs and windows and overturned two light airplanes—both with occupants—on runways at Denver. No one was hurt seriously.

U.S. Highway 6 was closed for a time Thursday night at 11,992-foot Loveland Pass, west of Denver, where winds and blowing snow created nightmare conditions.

Lightning bolts knocked out telephone service at Helena, Mont., and caused damage in at least one home.

Highest wind velocity in the region was 97 m.p.h. near Livingston, Mont.

In Wyoming, snowplows chewed away at giant drifts and a number of snowslides.

The first full day of the winter season also brought wintry weather to many other sections of the country.

Light snow fell across northern areas from Montana eastward through the Dakotas into the upper Great Lakes through Michigan into northern Ohio and western Pennsylvania and northeastward through interior parts of New York and New England.

Contract Let at Sanatorium

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Shicker Construction Co., Little Rock was awarded a $344,000 contract Thursday for construction at the McRae Tuberculosis Sanatorium.

It was the first work contracted under the state's new building program. Mack Sturgis, state purchasing agent, said Schicker underbid four competitors for the job, which includes construction of an infirmary and a nurses' home.

The sanatorium is at Alexander, near Little Rock.

UN Expected to Enforce Congo Truce

By PETER GROSE

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — Premier Cyrille Adoula says next Wednesday is the deadline for Katanga to honor President Moise Tshombe's unity commitment—and there'll be trouble if it doesn't.

The chief of the Congo's central government told newsmen Friday his regime will take energetic actions to see that the eight-point agreement be signed with the secessionist leader is respected.

Tshombe said on his return to Elisabethville, his U.N.-occupied capital, that the agreement to end Katanga's secession was subject to ratification by his Cabinet and Assembly—"and that cannot be done for at least 10 days."

Adoula declared, however, that Tshombe had undertaken to send Katanga deputies and senators to the Congolese Parliament and start the unification process by Dec. 27.

Both government quarters here and Belgians in Elisabethville said they expect the United Nations to enforce the agreement, again resorting to force if necessary.

The Congo's information minister, Joseph Ileo, declared after the signing of the agreement. "We do not intend to be outwitted again" by Tshombe.

Ileo noted that Tshombe had repudiated similar agreements in the past but asserted that "this time the U.N. is directly involved and has the responsibility to see that the commitment is completely respected."

Tshombe signed the declaration at the U.N. military base at Kitona after 17-hour talks with Adoula and handed it to U.N. Undersecretary Ralph Bunche.

The accord promised to place Tshombe's Katanga gendarmerie under the authority of Congolese President Joseph Kasavubu and pledged to support policies of the United Nations, which has demanded expulsion of foreign mercenaries directing Katanga armed forces.

On returning to Elisabethville, the Katanga capital, Tshombe declared he had "not found anything at Kitona."

"The important thing is that the accord we have reached has to be ratified by my ministers and

Macmillan and JFK Agree on Berlin Steps

By WHITNEY SHOEMAKER

HAMILTON, Bermuda (AP) — President Kennedy and Prime Minister Macmillan remained in continuous and extended session today, heading toward an early finish of their Big Two summit talks.

The American and British leaders sent word from their private talks on critical world issues that a communique summing up the two-day conference would be issued later today.

After issuing a communique, Kennedy and Macmillan planned to take up ticklish matters involving the Atlantic Alliance and such questions as may not lend themselves to public disclosure.

Kennedy is scheduled to take off on a two-hour flight to Palm Beach, Fla., about 4 p.m. EST, while Macmillan planned to leave about 9 p.m.

Thursday, the two leaders had an intensive discussion of the Congo, Berlin and nuclear testing, and were reported in broad agreement on the next steps on these issues.

Kennedy and Macmillan sought to reach broad agreement on policy for coping with Communist threats in Southeast Asia as well as Berlin.

The emphasis appeared to bear heavily on the question of resuming nuclear testing also.

The two leaders were believed to be discussing whether any world curb on nuclear explosions could be enforced and whether the Western allies — particularly the United States — could afford to continue a self-imposed ban in face of the Soviets' enormous series of tests which showered the skies with radioactive debris.

State Print Contracts to Court

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The two firms suing to prevent Parkin Printing Co. from carrying out state printing contracts presented their case in Chancery Court Thursday and Parkin gets its chance at defense today.

The two firms, Arkansas Printing and Lithographing Co. and a subsidiary, Arkansas Stationery and Furniture Co., both of Little Rock, charge in the suit that Parkin is barred from state business because its president, Harry W. Parkin, is chairman of the state Highway Commission.

Parkin contends a constitutional provision prohibiting state officers from doing business with the state doesn't apply in its case.

The plaintiffs wound up their case and Parkin opened defense. Most of the testimony Thursday concerned printing business which Parkin's firm has had from the state since he became a member of the Highway Commission in January, 1957.

It also involved the procedures used in drawing up contracts and ordering supplies.

The plaintiff firms ask that the 15 contracts awarded to Parkin be voided and that five of them be given to the plaintiffs. Parkin, of Little Rock, contends the contracts, which amount to almost $800,000 were let properly on competitive bidding and should go into effect Jan. 1, for a two-year period, as scheduled.

State Treasurer L. A. Clayton said Thursday Parkin would not be paid for any of the work until the suit is settled.

Calendar

Sunday, Dec. 24

Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Branch will have Open House at their home on Sunday, Dec. 24 from 5 to 7 p.m. All friends are invited.

WMA Circles Entertained

Mrs. T. V. Woods was hostess to a Christmas party for both WMA Circles of the Unity Baptist Church on Monday, Dec. 18 at 7:30. The home was decorated in Utelet motif. After Christmas hymns were sung by the group, Mrs. Lloyd Smith told of some interesting Christmas traditions carried out in other lands and Mrs. Woods gave a devotional using as her subject "Adore." Mrs. Jack Brown presented a musical quiz. Each member gave a gift of food to be given to a needy family.

At the conclusion of the program, the co-hostess, Mrs. James Gaines invited the guests into the dining room where they were served buffet style from a table overlaid with green net and using red berries, greenery and silver ornaments as the centerpiece, a dainty bell and star shaped sandwiches, salad, fruit cake, coffee and hot chocolate.

Centerville HD Club Meets

The Centerville HD Club Christmas party was held in the home of Mrs. Joyce McRoy. The house was called to order by the president, Mrs. Sid Skinner, after which the devotional and prayer was given by Mrs. McRoy. The roll call was answered by 15 members with "A Gift I have always treasured." New secret pals were drawn for the year. The surprise package was won by Mrs. Chet Faught.

After the recreation a Christmas gift exchange was held. Refreshments of fruit cake, candy, coffee and cold drinks were served to 15 members and two visitors, Mrs. Duncan and Cherie Bright.

Son Asks For Inheritance Now

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: I have passed the four - score milestone and am heading downward on the western slope of life. By hard work and careful planning I have accumulated a sizeable estate.

For the balance of my years I can bask in comfort. I live alone and like it. I am in good health and blessed with friends. My conscience is clear. I have established a trust-fund for the education of my grandchildren and put my own son through college. He holds several degrees, is a successful business man and has a bright future.

But, because of my age, he thinks I should establish a community property account whereby half my estate would pass on to him now, thus saving the inheritance tax.

I want full control of what I have accumulated as long as God permits me to live. It is my contention that if a person inherits property to which he has not contributed a dime, as in the case of my son, he should not object to paying a reasonable tax on his inheritance.

If I did as my son wishes and needed some extra money, he could refuse to give it to me. He says, "Dad, you know I wouldn't do that. Blood is thicker than water. I'll stand by you." But family histories are full of the stories of ungrateful children. Am I contrary, right, or wrong? You be the judge and jury. — Mr. B. I.

Dear Mr. B. I can best answer your question by telling about a friend of my mother's, a well-to-do contractor in Southern Ohio. After his wife's death he continued on in the home he had built, a pleasant, tree-shaded, red brick house overlooking the fertile fields and well-fed livestock paid for with money he earned. "At least Thomas will end his last days in peace and plenty," said my mother. And so he would had not his only daughter prevailed upon him to assign his estate to her and her husband. "So that we may look out for you and it, dear Papa."

Once in control, they sold the farm, invested the money in crazy schemes, all of which failed and wound up with nothing but debts. The father died in want. And so, my dear Mr. B., don't let anybody, not even your own son, talk you out of giving away what is rightfully yours.

Dear Helen: My 13-year-old boy and 10-year-old girl are at each other's throats every waking hour. They are so insanely jealous, I fear one or the other will commit murder. I do all I can to discipline them, even to taking away the things they enjoy the most—but no luck! What would you do in my place? —Mrs. W.

Dear Mrs. W.: Live for the day when they grow up. Meanwhile channel their interests according to their individual tastes. Play up and like it. I am in good health and blessed with friends. My conscience is clear. I have established a trust-fund for the education of my grandchildren and put my own son through college. He holds several degrees, is a successful business man and has a bright future.

Civil Rule Restored in Goa

By R. SATAKOPAN

BOMBAY, India (AP)—Indian army engineers today continued clearing road mines and restoring communications and transport facilities in Goa, Damão and Diu while the Indian government made plans for civil government in the three fallen Portuguese enclaves.

Official reports reaching Bombay claimed Portuguese troops carried out a scorched earth policy in Goa, blowing up bridges, roads and buildings before resistance collapsed late Tuesday after a 48-hour attack by Indian troops, tanks and planes.

The reports claimed the invading forces caused only negligible damage to port installations and public buildings.

A Defense Ministry spokesman said that conditions were fast returning to normal in Goa, where the defenders offered their strongest resistance and that "most of the Portuguese soldiers have laid down their arms."

The ministry earlier claimed that stragglers were still being rounded up.

Goans arriving in Belgaum, Indian command post for the invasion, said native Goan soldiers and police virtually welcomed the invaders while the outnumbered Portuguese troops resisted the advance with all that they had.

They said residents of the three enclaves lavished hospitality on the Indian troops.

The government declared that Portuguese colonial officials and captive officials were being well treated and that Portuguese casualties, earlier reported as small, were being given medical aid.

Gen. Manuel Vassalo e Silva, the Portuguese governor general, was reported captured in a small house at the Mormaigao naval base. A Defense Ministry spokesman said he was "being accorded the normal courtesies and consideration."

Official sources said the government planned to bring all three of the territories under the control of civilian administrators soon. A government spokesman announced that H.C.V.P. Noronha is now acting as chief civil adviser to the military governor, Maj. Gen. K. P. Candeth, who commanded the infantry division that captured Goa.

When several drab wooden phone booths in a New York ferry terminal were replaced with new models of aluminum and glass, phone company revenue at the site doubled.

Missile Killed by Anti Device

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Nike-Zeus antimissile missile has successfully intercepted a 3,000-mile-an-hour Nike-Hercules anti-aircraft missile, the Army said today.

It claimed this test intercept at the White Sands Missile Range in New Mexico as one of three significant successes for the Nike-Zeus, all scored Dec. 14.

The others: The longest and highest flight to date, scored by a Nike-Zeus launched from Point Mugu, Calif.; the first launch of a Nike-Zeus missile from a test site on Kwajalein Island in the South Pacific.

The Army withheld specific information on altitude of the intercept.

Post Office Bids

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Post Office Department said Thursday it probably will open bids Feb. 14 on a new post office at Junction City. The successful bidder will lease the building to the department.

North Little Rock was called Argentina at one time because a silver mine was supposed to have existed near the townsite.

Congo situation.

The two leaders of the Western alliance were expected to go deeper into all three situations, and others as well, in further talks before Kennedy flies back to Palm Beach, Fla., late today to the bedside of his seriously ill father.

They conferred for five hours in their first session Thursday and there was every indication that the atmosphere was harmonious. But their spokesmen emphasized that only a limited extent.

In their talk on Berlin, White House press secretary Pierre Salinger said, Kennedy and Macmillan concurred on "steps that can be taken in this particular field." Informants said this meant the position the West should take in trying to negotiate a peaceful solution with Moscow.

The next step, it was agreed in Paris at the Big Three foreign ministers' meeting last week, will be talks by U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko in Moscow to determine if there is a chance for formal negotiations on a new Berlin agreement.

But informants said they still must decide on a further approach to Moscow; whether, for example, to work toward a foreign ministers' meeting and ultimately an East-West summit.

They also must discuss ways to bring French President Charles de Gaulle around. De Gaulle insists that the tension over Berlin is all of Soviet making and therefore the Soviets must take the first steps toward easing it.

by the national (Katanga) assembly, and that cannot be done for at least 10 days," he said.

Belgian observers in Elisabethville—where Katanga armed resistance crumbled after a two-week battle with U.N. troops—said they doubted that Tshombe's ministers and other followers would accept the agreement.

The Belgians also speculated if ratification is denied, the U.N. command will feel compelled to resort to further military action.

A U.N. spokesman declared that "there is no question of ratification as far as U.N. representatives are concerned. It is signed, sealed and delivered," he said of the agreement.

Officials in Washington were also doubtful. A high-ranking U.S. official said that "the road ahead is still a rocky one. What we hope is that Katanga will live up to the agreement."

Menshikov Asks for Interview

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ambassador Mikhail Menshikov of the Soviet Union set up an appointment for 5 p.m. today with Undersecretary of State George Ball.

Ball is acting head of the State Department in the absence of Secretary Dean Rusk.

There was no immediate indication why Menshikov asked for the appointment.

Indonesia Gets Forces Ready

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — President Sukarno, who has ordered Indonesian armed forces to be ready to invade West New Guinea, today again rejected self-determination as a solution for the Dutch-ruled region.

His air force stepped up its activities along the borders of the disputed territory on the world's second biggest island.

Sukarno has demanded the Dutch leave the territory.

In a speech to a mothers' meeting in Jakarta, Sukarno declared: "I call on the whole world not to bother trying to get us talking about self-determination for West Irian (West New Guinea). We definitely reject that sort of self-determination."

Sukarno repeated that Indonesia is ready to enter into negotiations with the Dutch—but only on the basis of a transfer of power over West New Guinea from The Hague to Jakarta.

HOURS TO KILL

Chapter XXXV

Slowly she was aware of the blank ceiling of her room. She was in bed, neatly, flat on her back, with no memory of getting there.

When she lifted her head from the pillow air struck coldly at her damp pillow icy when she lowered it again. The sheet beneath her was wet.

Cornelia—but Kincaid was with her, or on his way to her, worth an army of lawyers. Hilary . . . Margaret struggled up on her elbow, threw back her covers, and was put firmly back by a big gray-haired woman who seemed to materialize out of the wall.

"Awake, are you? How do you feel?"

"I have to—" "Have to nothing, you've got pneumonia," said the woman briskly. "I'm a nurse, and you're my job. If it's the little girl you're worried about, she's fine. And you had a telephone call from a Mr. Kincaid. You're not to worry; he's taking care of everything and he'll be back tomorrow."

A thermometer went into Margaret's mouth, but she did not remember its being taken out again. She slept until the phone rang. The nightmare waiting came back, until she remembered, and the nurse was saying, "Well, I think she might—" and handing her the receiver.

It was Kincaid, and his voice was so comforting, so like coming home. She said to his first query, "I'm all right; how's Cornelia?" "Still pretty groggy," he sounded as close, miles away in the night, as though he were standing beside her. "I suppose she told you she was drugged. . . . Hello Margaret?"

Drugged. Not responsible, not accountable. Kincaid's voice went on, saying something about a doctor and a blood test for Cornelia and a confusion of cocktail glasses; Margaret could only realize that Cornelia had not placed herself in greater jeopardy. She was safe from suspicion because she had been physically incapacitated. It could be proved that she had been drugged, that she would not have been able to rescue Philip.

Cornelia was supposed to be a drinking - and - barbiturate problem. After Philip had packed, he remembered two samples he'd forgotten, and he asked Cornelia to put them in her suitcase. He said he was going to combine business and pleasure — and of course she handled the bottles; tightened the caps to make sure they wouldn't open, wrapped them inside clothing so they wouldn't break. Her fingerprints were all over them.

Forethought Philip — and he would have done it so well. The frantic but loyal husband, hiding his wife's addiction, hoping a vacation alone together would straighten her out.

There'll be some formalities here," said Kincaid, "but I think that's all they'll be. Now—are you really okay? Is Hilary behaving?" "Oh, beautifully," said Margaret, and burst into a fit of coughing. When she could speak again she told him about Mrs. Foale.

And she was right; he had been convinced that Mrs. Foale was dead when he found, inside a layer of linens in one of the storage-room trunks, new and expensive clothes, some unworn.

"Where is she now?" asked Kincaid, and Margaret realized that she didn't know. She said, "Hold on a second," and lowered the phone to call to the silent and fascinated presence just outside the door, "Mrs. . . . ?"

"Smith," said the nurse imperiously, putting her head around the door.

"Do you know what became of Mrs. Foale, the woman who was here when the police came?" "Oh, they took her with them. They took her gun with them, too."

Reforms Hit Stock Exchange

NEW YORK (AP)—The American Stock Exchange has begun reformation moves.

An investigating committee of its own members recommended reorganization of the nation's No. 2 securities market to the board of governors Thursday.

"A fundamental revision of the exchange and its administrative machinery is necessary and should be undertaken without delay," it said.

The nine-member committee of broker members was appointed Oct. 12 to review the exchange's rules, policies and procedures.

This came after the Securities and Exchange Commission had launched its own investigation following a price manipulating scandal involving two specialists, the father and son team of Jerry and Gerard Re.

The Res were suspended by the SEC and later arrested. The exchange committees interim report came only 10 days after the resignation of Edward T. McCormick from the $75,000-a-year exchange presidency.

McCormick, 50, and general counsel Michael E. Mooney, who quit with him, said they felt they should sever connections because of "recent publicity."

Shrine Players Pay Visit to the Children

By HARRY JUPITER

Associated Press Sports Writer
SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—"Todd doesn't smile much," said the nurse, "but he's been waiting for you."

The lanky young man looked at the skinny little boy and picked him up.

"He's heavy with those braces on his legs," the nurse said.

"Not for me, he's not," said Gary Barnes, an end from Clemson.

And Todd, 3, broke into a great big grin.

Forty-eight of the finest football players in the nation will play in the Shrine East-West Game at Kaizer Stadium Dec. 30. They visited the Shrine Hospital for Crippled Children Thursday, meeting the youngsters who will benefit from the game proceeds.

A tiny doll named Maria, just 18 months old, sat in her bed, all dressed up, watching the young giants walk in.

Irv Goode, a 6 foot 5 end from Kentucky, was heading toward a little girl in the next bed when he stopped and lifted tiny Maria into his arms. She blinked his big eyes, then rested against his big shoulders, daring the world to take her new friend away from her.

Suddenly the nurses were telling the youngsters and the players that the game had to leave.

The kids hugged the brave young men, kissed them and smiled.

The football players smiled back. And those big guys' eyes were glistening.

Ouachita Line Coach Resigned

ARKADELPHIA, Ark. (AP)—Bobby Gill, Ouachita Baptist College's football line coach, has resigned to accept an assistant coaching job at the University of Houston.

Gill has been at Ouachita since 1957. He is a graduate of Baylor University.

Dr. Ralph A. Phelps Jr., president of Ouachita, announced the resignation Thursday and said no successor has been selected.

Gill will be offensive line coach at Houston.

Oilers Get Big Ones in Series

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—The San Diego Chargers would just as soon throw a race track saying and throw out the last race as far as their American Football League championship game with the Houston Oilers Sunday is concerned.

In fact, they would prefer to toss out two of their last three efforts because they could run no better than second in a two-team race.

San Diego is still apparently both stunned and amazed at the 41-0 loss to the Boston Patriots here Sunday.

And now comes the hottest game in the AFL, coach Walt Kiesling's Oilers, with the league's leading passer, veteran George Blanda, the league's leading runner, Billy Cannon, and a definite winning frame of mind based on nine straight triumphs.

San Diego holds a 5-3 edge in its series with Houston. But in the title game between these same rivals a year ago the Oilers came out in front, 24-16.

Post Season Games for Six Porkers

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—Six of the Arkansas Razorbacks' nine senior football players have been chosen to participate in post-season all-star games.

End Jim Collier is the latest to be selected. He'll join guard Dean Garrett, tackle John Childress and quarterback George McKinney in the U.S. Bowl game as Washington, D. C., Jan. 7.

Halfback Lance Alworth will participate in the Hula Bowl game here in Honolulu Jan. 6. And his lection on the all-star teams running mate, halfback Paul Dudik, named today for the National Bowl, will participate in the Senior Basketball Association's annual Bowl in Mobile, Ala., on the same date.

They'll leave for the all-star sites after the Sugar Bowl game in New Orleans on New Year's Day.

Baylor was picked as one of the top forwards on the Western Division team which will face a squad headed by Wilt Chamberlain of the Los Angeles Lakers, western pace-setters. Each coach will select five other players.

Lineup of Holiday Bowl Games

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Most of the teams have broken off practice for the Christmas weekend, but interest is mounting in next week's college football bowl games that start off with the North vs. South encounter in Miami's Orange Bowl Christmas (Monday) night.

After Monday night's game this is the order of action:

Saturday, Dec. 30

Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, Fla.: Georgia Tech vs. Penn State.

Shrine Bowl at San Francisco—East vs. West all-stars.

At Montgomery, Ala.—Blue vs. the Gray.

Sun Bowl at El Paso—Villanova vs. Wichita.

All-American Bowl at Tucson, Ariz.—East vs. West all-stars.

Monday, Jan. 1

Rose Bowl at Pasadena—Minnesota vs. UCLA.

Sugar Bowl at New Orleans—Alabama vs. Arkansas.

Cotton Bowl at New Orleans—Mississippi vs. Texas.

Orange Bowl at Miami—Louisiana vs. Colorado.

An aggregate 400,000 spectators are expected to watch the five major bowls, the Gator, Rose, Sugar, Cotton and Orange. The largest turnout of 100,000 is expected at the Rose Bowl.

Philadelphia, the league's leading scorer.

North, South Teams Play Christmas

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—North and South squads tapered off today in practice for their Christmas night charity football game in the Orange Bowl.

It was a relative rest for the arms of the South's hasty passers. The Rebels have emphasized the aerial end of the game since practice sessions began.

"It has been our policy," said South coach John Bridges of Baylor, "to keep at least one ball in the air at all times."

The North found a passing combination, Eddie Wilson of Arizona to Bonnie McRae of Michigan State, which it hopes will effectively counter the South's passer Bobby Pyle, from Baylor, and ends Bill Miller of Miami and Johnny Burrell of Rice.

Arkansas held an 83-81 lead with 13 seconds left in the overtime when Arkansas guard Skippy Coffey was fouled. He hit one free throw and pushed the Hogs three points ahead, then senior forward Alan Morrison came down with a key rebound to kill the Tiger's last threat.

Sophomore Bob McLoughlin led LSU with 15 points and Nattin hit 14. Junior forward Tommy Bayer scored 19 points for Arkansas, Jim Wilson hit 13 and Larry Wofford scored 10.

There were 50 personal fouls called in the rough game and five players—three Porkers and two Tigers—fouled out.

LSU is 4-3 for the season. Arkansas led 48-43 in halftime.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The dance hall's advertisement said: "You're never too old to do the twist."

Bernard Tamplin, 79, wasn't too old to work every day in a real estate office. So he went to the ballroom's party Tuesday night.

In the midst of twist gyrations he collapsed in front of the bandstand and died.

Cincinnati (61) used a first half scoring burst, triggered by sophomore George Wilson and Ron Bonham to establish a 42-20 lead and coasted in from there. Colorado's Ken Charlton led all scorers with 23 points while Paul Hogue had 20 for the winners.

Purdue (51), beaten from the floor, used free throw accuracy and experience as the keys to its victory over Evansville's home standing Aces. Purdue hit 29 of 30 free throws while the young Aces converted only 19 of 34.

In other major games, Georgia Tech surprised Missouri 58-57 at Atlanta; Homestanding Syracuse lost its sixth straight, 74-63 to Pitt; Creighton unleashed a devastating first half attack in crushing Rice 91-57 at Omaha; Bradley romped over touring Brown 89-62; Iowa punished Nevada 88-46 in Nevada's last game of a Midwest trip; Oklahoma State beat Colorado State 60-44; and Utah State stretched its unbeaten string to eight with a 77-64 triumph over Pacific University.

Agriculture Does Well at Year-End

By J. C. TILLMAN
Associated Press Staff Writer
Arkansas agriculture got off to a bad start in 1961 because of adverse weather last spring, but finished the year showing a better record than that for 1960. The Crop Reporting Service set total value of principal crops grown in the state this year at $528 million—15 per cent above the 1960 valuation of $460 million. The increasingly important poultry industry, which the service reports on separately, added another $100 million or more although producers were plagued by low prices. The total for poultry also was above that for 1960. Both larger production and higher prices share the credit for the 1961 crop rank of third in value since the Crop Reporting Service began in 1919. For statisticians, the index of crop production in 1961 was five per cent above 1960 and 21 per cent above the 1950-59 average. Three of the state's major crops—cotton, corn and hay—fared better than in 1960, and two of these set or equaled records. Two others, soybeans and rice, didn't do so well. A new high yield was set in raising corn and the amount of hay produced equaled the record set in 1958. Cotton did a little better than in 1960. As it always has, cotton ranked first in value in the state, with lint and seed worth more than half the total crop value—$281 million. Soybeans were second with a value of $117 million, rice was third with $69 million, hay was worth $20 million, corn $10 million and wheat, $9 million. Total acreage planted by Arkansas farmers in 1961 was about 314 per cent more than in 1960. Soybean growers raised their acreage by eight per cent while cotton farmers planted only three per cent more land. Except for soybeans, major crops are under government controls. Wheat and barley became increasingly favored by farmers. The acreage increase for wheat was 22 per cent, and for barley a whopping 56 per cent. This, with the three per cent acreage increase in oats planted, contrasted to decreases of 22 per cent for corn and 30 per cent for sorghum. Rice and hay farmers planted the same acreage as last year. The six major crops accounted for the bulk—$306 million—of the total cash value of Arkansas agriculture in 1961, and 1/4 others contributed the remaining $22 million. These were apples, barley, cowpeas, grapes, oats, peaches, pecans, potatoes, sorghum grain and forage, sweet potatoes and commercial vegetables. The later includes strawberries. Poultry production, which has come from a $54 million state industry in 1953 to a $91 million contribution in 1960, suffered a market price setback this year, but still was at over $100 million. Final figures will not be available for some weeks. In 1960, there were 180 million broilers produced in the state. This year there was a 25 per cent increase in production for an estimated 225 million birds. There was an estimated 34 per cent increase in turkey production over 1960—from 2,354,000 to 2,132,000. The 1960 turkey production was valued at $10 million. The total value of both chicken and turkey production this year was estimated to be from five to 10 per cent above 1961. As the year neared an end poultry producers were still trying to find a solution to skidding prices and rising production costs. During the year the selling price dropped to new lows for recent years, and during several periods the sales price was reported below production costs. Arkansas growers generally took a stand against any government-related regulation as producers in some other states proposed. The Crop Reporting Service summed up the Arkansas agriculture year as "on the whole... a good crop year, despite unfavorable weather in the spring that resulted in crops getting off to a very late start." Poll tax, paid on or before Oct. 1, will enable the tax payer, if he is otherwise qualified, to vote in any election held between Oct. 2, of that year and before Oct. 1 of the following year.

Red China Beats Drums for War

TOKYO (AP)—Communist China today said the most important thing for newly independent countries is "definitely not disarmament but to build up, expand and strengthen their armed forces." "The Chinese government supports the proposals for universal day to reverse his conviction for disarmament," it added. "But a call for disarmament without denouncing U.S. imperialism as the ringleader working against disarmament will not bring the on sentence."

Each year at this holiday period, TV is engaged in life-or-death decisions about current programs while diving headlong into big plans for next season.

Possibly the most predictable news emanating from the creative ateliers of New York and Hollywood concerns a whole slew of new programs on the big new theme now in planning stages.

Is Christmas Turning Into Pagan Rite?

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK — There has been a great deal of unjolly talk recently — mostly among appropriately frustrated churchmen — of abolishing Christmas celebrations.

They have degenerated into pagan rites, some say, dedicated to drinking and overspending and impiety in general. The spirit is: Give unto others the same quality of gift, card and egg nog as others give unto you.

A few merchants have joined the verbal fight against overcommercialized Christmas after observing that the modern motto of the shopper is: Merry Christmas to all and to all a good night.

Another class of Americans who are concerned about the modern version of the holy day are doctors and psychiatrists, who can see it making an unholy shambles of their patients. There are various descriptive phrases for the physical and psychological breakdowns related to this holiday, such as "Christmas anxiety," and "Seasonal depressive reaction."

But whatever they call it, men of medicine agree that the pressure of the season, as it is now hysterically celebrated, can cause everything from acute mental depression and ulcers to simple physical exhaustion, whereby a patient can remain limp as an unfilled stocking for months, subject to a variety of virus that come around about winter.

The police? They, too, have their share of anti-noel neuroses. They must work harder to keep up with all those Christmas-frenzied men and women who steal and shoplift in record numbers during the holidays to keep up with the Joneses (or is it the James boys?) And in honor of the birthday of Christ, great numbers of previously law abiding citizens suddenly pass bad checks.

You need money, in America, to celebrate Christmas properly. You need Frankincense and Ar-poge.

Ninety-nine out of 100 Americans over teenage would agree that Christmas has gotten out of hand. That our crash program for Christmas is unhealthy and irreverent is an accepted tenet. Even as we overextend our budgets for cards and presents that have more to do with amazing our family and friends than with commemorating a joyous day, we realize it. Even as we work ourselves into a frenzy trying to outdo our neighbors in party-giving and lawn decorations, we know we are putting that wrong emphasis on Christmas. Even as we take a few superfluous drinks at the office party we recognize we're trying Christmas story. Relax and enjoy day, that Christ himself told us desperately to have fun, but this your family even if there is no how-best to celebrate Christmas is not the kind of fun Christmas time left to send cards to business. Invite to our feasts those who can not invite us back, and give our associates. And remember, as I did when a presents to those who can make minister said it in church last Sun-no return to us.

So most of us plagued with guilt complexes about commercializing our Christmas, race faster and faster to get through the holiday season with as few physical and mental wounds as possible. By the time Christmas day comes we have accomplished all the rituals of feasting and shopping and wrapping that our inner selves know are not really consistent with the birth of Christ — and we are too weary and spiritually let-down to feel much beyond numbness.

It is at this point that we are expected to be gay, to light up, to exclaim, "Oh, it's just what I wanted." Most of us feel called upon to add "really, it's just what I wanted." Because we didn't really want it, we have to make a double effort to make it sound like we did. Guilty conscience again.

But I'm afraid it would be fruitless to abolish Christmas celebrations. The spirit of giving is almost as American as it is Christ-like, and much of the spirit of "Joy To The World" would be lost if the celebration was cast aside in favor of quiet contemplation.

Instead, couldn't we strive to abandon the competitive aspects of Christmas while concentrating on its spiritual values. Give gifts to people you love because you love them, not because you owe them a favor or they give gifts to you. Take time to read the

It "Dr. Kildare," "Ben Casey," "The Donna Reed Show," "Hennessey" and "Gunsmoke" (don't forget "Doc") survive for another season, next year's crop of kiddie viewers will be practicing taking temperatures and pulses instead of fast draws.

To make room for the new shows, some of this season's misses and near-misses are going to have to go. And the future of many hang in the balance. ABC is rumored to be even thinking of giving up "The Untouchables," and its "Maverick" is probably in its final, faltering months.

After a brief outing, Sonny Fox's "On Your Mark" for children on Saturday morning quietly went down the ABC drain after last week's show. It was heralded, when it premiered, as ABC's response to widespread demands for better TV programs for youngsters.

NBC's "Today" show is in a state of flux. Edwin Newman, after a few months as its newscaster, will soon pull out of the show. It is expected that host John Chancellor will take over the job.

Writer of Top Plays Dead at 57

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—Playwright Moss Hart, a child of poverty who could have written nothing more remarkable than his own success story, is dead of a heart attack.

Hart, whose genius brought him from the gloom of New York's slums to the glamor of its Great White Way, collapsed Wednesday at his winter home in this desert resort.

Hart, 57, had been suffering pain in his jaw and was going to see his dentist. "Mr. Hart was walking to his car when he fell straight back," said his agent, Irving Lazar. "He was taken to the house and the doctor came to give artificial respiration and an injection. But Mr. Hart didn't respond."

His death came only six months after that of George S. Kaufman, with whom he collaborated on such classic theater comedies as "The Man Who Came to Dinner" and the Pulitzer Prize-winning "You Can't Take It With You." Hart also was a director of such Broadway musical successes as "Camelot" and "My Fair Lady," both still running—the latter since 1956.

This was his third heart attack. He had been ill several days but it was his jaw, not his heart, that seemed to be troubling him. His wife, actress-singer Kitty Carlisle, left the television panel show "To Tell the Truth" in New York to accompany him West several weeks ago.

Their children, Christopher, 13, and Cathy, 11, also were here. So was composer Frederick Lowe, who worked with Hart on "My Fair Lady."

Hart never liked Hollywood. He said the movie industry would have been better off if it had stayed in New York. But he wrote such screen plays as "Gentlemen's Agreement," "A Star Is Born" (remake), "Prince of Players" and "Hans Christian Andersen."

Among his other Broadway plays were "Face the Music," "Winged Victory," "As Thousands Cheer," "The Great Waltz" and "Climate of Eden."

Final rites will be held Friday at Temple Isaiah in the Palm Springs Jewish Community Center. Cremation will follow at San Bernardino.

Ex-Officials Are Hanged in Korea

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—Choi In-kyoo, 43, home minister under former President Syngman Rhee, and four others were hanged today. They had been convicted on charges ranging from political terrorism to pro-Communist activities.

Those who went to the gallows with Choi were Cho Yong-soo, 31, a newspaper publisher accused of pro-Communist activity; Choi Paik-kun, 47, another leftist; Kwak Jung-joo, 30, former chief bodyguard for Rhee, and Lim Il-wa-soo, 40, a hoodlum leader close to Rhee.

Would Fine Airlines for Undue Delay

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Frank Thompson Jr., D-N.J., says airlines which delay flights should be penalized even as they are penalizing passengers who re serve seats and then don't show up.

In a newsletter to constituents he said: "Why don't we have the airlines pay a $5-an-hour fine for time spent in waiting in terminals for delayed flights? And how about $50 fine for cancellations?"

President of Argentina to Meet JFK

HAMILTON, Bermuda (AP) — President Kennedy plans to meet and her son will share on Christmas, half a world apart.

Said Mrs. Downey: "I'm allowed two packages a month, 11 pounds each. I usually send coffee, sugar and such, but this month I've sent a little extra. It's all I'm allowed."

Holiday Not Good in a China Prison

By ARTHUR EDSON
By ROY ESSOYAN
HONG KONG (AP)—A small Christmas pudding, a handful of dates and a few cards from home will provide the only Christmas cheer for four American prisoners still held in Red China.

There will be nothing else to set Christmas off from the thousands of dreary, lonely days they have served and have yet to serve in Chinese Communist jails.

This is the story, based on the best available information: The four American prisoners, 31 to 70 years old, will clean their cells Christmas morning. That is the only work assigned to them. They will be taken out to exercise for two half-hour periods during the day. The rest of the time they will spend in their silent cells.

This is the 11th Christmas behind Chinese Communist bars for Hugh F. Redmond Jr., of Yonkers, N.Y.; 43, a businessman serving a life term in a Shanghai prison on unspecified Communist charges of espionage.

It is the 10th Christmas is jail for John T. Downey, 31, of New Britain, Conn.; and Richard Fecteau, 34, of Lynn, Mass., Army civilian employees jailed in Peiping on similar charges.

Downey is serving a life term and Fecteau has completed half his jail alive.

His 20-year sentence.

Roman Catholic Bishop James E. Walsh of Cumberland, Md., visited him last year. The bishop's last words before they parted were, "We will meet in heaven."

There were five American prisoners in China last Christmas but Robert McCann of Pasadena, Calif., was released on the point of death in April after he had served two-thirds of a 15-year sentence on espionage charges. McCann died a month later.

Stock Takes Irregular Course

By RIP WATSON
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Scattered areas of strength gave the stock market an irregular look late this afternoon, offsetting occasional weakness in other groups.

Volume for the day was estimated at 3.3 billion shares as trading slowed noticeably from its earlier moderate pace. Turnover Wednesday came to 3.64 billion.

More plus signs appeared among utilities, hit hard Wednesday and early today by selling traced to profit taking and fears of new public power challenges to private utility firms.

Public Service Electric & Gas held a gain of better than 2 points while American Telephone joined Commonwealth Edison and Consolidated Natural Gas on the upside. Pacific Gas & Electric was down nearly 2. Houston Light & Power more than 1.

Steels were improved, however, with leading producers showing small gains. U.S. Steel's advance was a bit less than in the morning.

Motors were less impressive. Ford's gain was cut back to a major fraction.

Airlines, drugs and some aircraft-missile issues advanced. Technicians were concerned at the market's failure to mount any kind of rally with the list dragging along the bottom of recent trading ranges. Seasonal factors remained in the background.

These included tax-loss and profit-taking transactions. Friday is the last day you can sell "regular way" — four-day delivery — in order to take a taxable profit during 1961.

Eastern Airlines rose a major fraction and Southern Railway a slightly lower in slow trading. Good fraction. Down 1 or so were Du Pont, Liggett & Myers, East-

If African Peace Sticks the UN Wins

If the Tshombe-Adoula agreement in the Congo is made to stick it will represent a great victory for the United Nations. Whether it will stick is a grave question.

As one State Department representative said, it does seem too good to be true.

Tshombe appeared gloomy after the agreement was signed. He had a right to be, for he had aspired to be an independent chief of state. If Congolese federation goes through, he will be only a secondary figure at best.

As for the practical chances that the agreement will ever be implemented, there are important factors which now impel Katanga President Moise Tshombe toward compliance which did not exist on other occasions when he has agreed only to reverse himself as soon as he was back home.

United Nations troops now occupy the Katanga capital and, perhaps more importantly, the "inner capital" in the offices of the Union Miniere, vast European-controlled enterprise.

Tshombe referred to the necessity of submitting his new agreement to his Cabinet, where several extremists will oppose it to the last ditch. But Tshombe's true future course is more likely to be decided by the French, British, American and Union Carbide.

The Parkin company received 15 state printing contracts at the most recent letting. Clayton said he acted on advice of the attorney general's office.

Professor and Family Take a Trip

BOSTON (AP) — Prof. Oscar Handlin, Harvard historian and Pulitzer Prize winner, gave his family a Christmas present today, a two-week trip to somewhere.

Only Handlin knew where they were going when he boarded a plane for New York with Mrs. Handlin and their three children, Joanna, 19; David, 18; and Ruth, 14.

He said only they were to make two plane changes—and each was supplied with a passport.

The mystery trip stemmed from the professor's offer on Thanksgiving to take them for a trip.

"Where do you want to go?" he asked.

"Anywhere," they replied.

Searcy Firm Low on Ft. Smith School

FORT SMITH, Ark. (AP)—The apparent low bid on construction of a 45-classroom junior-senior high school here was submitted Wednesday by Cone & Stowers, Inc., of Searcy.

The Searcy firm's bid of $1,234,847 was one of eight received on the project, which will be financed by a bond issue approved last year by Fort Smith voters.

School Superintendent Chris Corbin said the school would open in the fall of 1963 with some 800 students attending the seventh through the tenth grades.

He said an 11th grade will be added in 1964 and a 12th grade in 1965. The school will be called the Southside High School.

Fort Smith now has two junior highs and one senior high school. Corbin said the present high school, which has been renamed Northside, has an enrollment of 1,000.

America Is Dedicated to Peace

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson has opened the eighth annual Pageant of Peace with the declaration that the United States "is dedicated to Christ's quest for peace."

"Not the false peace of evasion and retreat," Johnson added, "but the divine peace which comes as the fulfillment of striving and the climax of commitment. We will never falter in that dedication."

Then, as dusk closed in on the capital Wednesday, the vice president pressed a button to light the national Christmas tree on the Ellipse, a park between the White House and the Washington Monument.

The Real Meaning of Christmas

There is a better thing than the observance of Christmas day, and that is, keeping Christmas.

Are you willing to forget what you have done for other people, and to remember what other people have done for you; to ignore what the world owes you, and to think what you owe the world; ... to see that your fellow-men are just as real as you are, and to try to look behind their faces to their hearts, hungry for joy; ... to close your book of complaints against the management of the universe, and look around for a place where you can sow a few seeds of happiness — are you willing to do these things, even for a day? Then you can keep Christmas.

Are you willing to stoop down and consider the needs and the desires of little children; to remember the weaknesses and loneliness of people who are growing old; to stop asking how much your friends love you, and ask yourself whether you love them; to trim your lamp so that it will give more light and less smoke, and to carry it in front so that your shadow will fall behind you; ...

Are you willing to believe that love is the strongest thing in the world — stronger than hate, stronger than evil, stronger than death — and that the blessed life which began in Bethlehem nineteen hundred years ago is the image and brightness of the Eternal Love? Then you can keep Christmas.

And if you keep it for a day, why not always?

But you can never keep it alone.

Today's highlight in history:

On this day in 1905, China and Japan signed a pact confirming the Treaty of Portsmouth. Secret protocols were inserted which Japan later employed in an attempt to close Manchuria to railways other than its own.

On this date—

In 1791, the Marquis De Lafayette sailed from Boston for France after spending more than four years in the American Revolutionary Army.

In 1807, Congress passed the Embargo Act prohibiting all foreign commerce and forbidding vessels to sail from U.S. ports.

In 1894, Capt. Alfred Dreyfus of France was condemned and publicly degraded on a charge of selling military secrets to Germany although he was later exonerated.

In 1938, Japan's Premier, Prince Konoye outlined the policy for a so-called "New Order" in Asia.

In 1944, Nazi Panzer units isolated Bastogne, Belgium, but American Gen. Anthony McAuliffe rejected enemy demands for surrender with his terse reply: "Nuts."

Mr. K Topic as Mac and JFK Meet

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—The reason President Kennedy and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan could meet in comparative quiet at Bermuda today is because Premier Khrushchev has a spell of diplomatic asthma.

He has stopped to catch his breath after working up a Berlin crisis. Last summer, spreading tension with every word he spoke, he said he wanted the problem settled by the end of 1961.

Then—with the trouble getting explosive after his agents built a wall around East Berlin and the Allies were plainly confused on what to do about it—he sat back and said the settlement could wait until 1962.

How to deal with him next year —and they'll have to—is the No. 1 dilemma at the Kennedy-Macmillan meeting.

So, invisible in Bermuda but very much present at this Christmas-time, like a Santa Claus whose idea of fun is a bagful of cats let loose in a chimney, will be Khrushchev.

If dealing with this Russian has Kennedy and Macmillan slightly stumped, they're equally baffled about dealing with their ally, French President Charles de Gaulle, the haughtiest man in world diplomacy.

He not only doesn't want to want to deal with the Soviets on Berlin, he doesn't even want to discuss it with them. He regards even a little negotiation on this as a mark of weakness. So he stands aloof from it all.

This is nice work if you can get it, for a man in de Gaulle's position.

He not only doesn't have the army or the atomic weapons to deter the Soviet Union in a showdown—he'd have to depend on this country for that—he can't even settle the fighting in Algeria.

He's just making life tougher for Kennedy and Macmillan. The sorry part of it is that, on something so vital as the future of Berlin, the Allies are split.

Besides all this, Kennedy and Macmillan have been hit this week when they arranged their Bermuda meeting.

This is Prime Minister Nehru's invasion and take-over of the Portuguese colony of Goa. There's nothing Kennedy and Macmillan can do about raking Nehru's disgust. But the problem he created goes far beyond the realms of that tiny colony on the southwest coast of India. Portugal is a member of NATO, the Western alliance, along with the United States and Britain.

But India is part of the British Commonwealth.

All in all, Khrushchev hasn't had it so good in years. No hit after working the Allies into

Eisenhowers Vacationing in Desert

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif.

His party planned to have breakfast. Eisenhower arrived today to begin a desert vacation and said he will stay "until the snow is gone in Pennsylvania."

Eisenhower's train, delayed by bad weather, reached San Bernardino almost an hour late. The former president's private car was moved to a siding and he and his party planned to have breakfast aboard before motoring to Palm Desert, about 50 miles to the southeast.

There he will stay in a rented six-room home facing the 11th airway of the golf course at Eldorado Country Club. The ex-resident has vacationed in that area often since 1954.

With him were his wife, Mamie, and their 6-year-old granddaughter, Mary Jean.

Eisenhower was scheduled to hold a news conference at his vacation home late today. The former president and his party left Pennsylvania two days ago.

Temperatures in the 70s were forecast for Palm Desert today.

Margaret O'Brien Adult Star

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Margaret O'Brien is back with Dr. Gillespie—but what a difference!

Little Maggie was back at MGM or the first time in a decade, but she wasn't little Maggie any more.

She was Margaret O'Brien, a stunning actress of 23 years ("I'll never be able to lie about my age; too many people know it"). Married two years to advertising man Robert Allen, she has successfully escaped the sweet little moppet category.

In fact, her return to MGM had her playing a misguided nurse who tries to seduce Dr. Kildare, Richard Chamberlain.

What makes the event notable is that her second movie (after the tear-jerking "Journey for Margaret") was "Dr. Gillespie's Criminal Case." Dr. Kildare, then Lew Ayres, was away during the war, and the elder medic was carrying on the series.

"That was when I first met Lionel Barrymore," Margaret recalled. "He was very nice to me in the singing and the tableau on the birth of Christ which has been set for 8:30 p.m. Sunday.

—even made me rag dolls. We got along very well together." She followed with such films as "Meet Me in St. Louis," "Jane Eyre," "Big City," "Music for Millions," "Our Vines Have Tender Grapes," "Little Women" (which she remembers with the most fondness) and "Secret Garden." The latter was her finale at the Culver City lot.

"There wasn't any had feeling about my leaving," she said. "I simply felt I could do better on the outside."

There followed the usual in-between period when she strove to escape the saccharine tag that had befallen her in the MGM days. She never quite succeeded until a couple of years ago when she did a Playhouse 90 with Tony Randall.

Since then she has kept busy with TV dramas and summer stock. Last summer she toured with James MacArthur in the sexy farce "Under the Yum-Yum Tree." She recently did an "Adventures in Paradise" in which she played a hard-drinking heiress. Yes, our Maggie has come a long way.

It is the custom for former movie moppets to shed tears over their lost childhood. Margaret refuses to go along with this dodge.

"I often see or read interviews in which these former stars complain about what the film business has done to them," she remarked. "If they don't like it so, why do they stay in it."

"I stay in it because I like it. I always have. I always felt fortunate in being able to work in movies, and I don't think I suffered for it. My mother was very careful about seeing that I lived a fairly normal life. And remember that I came along after the Jackie Coogan case had prompted strict laws about children working in films and saving their money. Much of my earnings are still invested in bonds.

"If I had a daughter, I would that life for a son. Girls thrive not mind if she were a child actress with all that attention; boys do tress. However, I wouldn't want not."

Financial Aide Named to Air Force

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has named Neil E. Harlan, a Harvard business professor, assistant secretary of the Air Force for financial management.

He succeeds Lyle S. Garlock, who has resigned the $20,000 a year job.

Harlan, a native of Cherry Valley, Ark., is a graduate of the University of Arkansas and received his doctor's degree in business administration from Harvard University, where he has been an associate professor of business administration since 1954.

He served as consultant to the Air Force from 1951 until 1952 at which time he moved into the office of the Air Force comptroller and helped develop the financial control system now used by the Air Force.

Harlan is married and has three children. He lives in Wayland, Mass.

Nitro-Filled Bottle Found Near Tavern

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Two policemen found an oddly marked bottle outside a cocktail lounge. They suspected it contained nitroglycerine — enough to blow up the neighborhood.

They buried the bottle and an explosives expert look over. He dug it up, took a taste and said:
